LOCAL NEWS

The Vicinity Club of Auburn Park gave a big party at Cosmopolitan Hall on Saturday evening, Nov. 3.

"Sink or Swim" is the motto of all those who cross Racine Ave. In the history of early Chicago Auburn Park was called "Mud Lake." We wonder why the name was changed.

On last Tuesday a large number of women were busily working at their knitting in the tailor shop on 79th St. near May.

St. Sabina's Social Club gave a dance last Thursday evening in the school hall. All the young people of the parish were invited. All present had a good time and plenty of "eats."

Stevenson's Orchestra will furnish the music for Gresham Lodge 448, I. O. O. F., dance of Dec. 5 at Auburn Park Masonic Temple. Mr. C. F. Pasal will supervise the hall and card rooms. The admission fee is 50c, including refreshments and wardrobe.

The women of Auburn Park are very patriotic if we are to judge from the registration lists, for a good many Cinderellas came out of the kitchen last week and promised to do everything from darning socks (not their husbands', the laundry does that) to dancing the Irish washerwoman.

Calumet High School students were dismissed early last Wednesday afternoon to solicit the Hoover pledge. Behold its emblem in most every window. It is food that will win the war.

It is reported that Mr. Daniel Kelley, now at Great Lakes, will soon be leaving for "somewhere in France."

Christmas presents for soldiers in France must be sent before Nov. 15. Only two days more. Marshall Field and other department stores in the loop are repacking and rewrapping parcels and guarantee their safe delivery.

This year promises to be the biggest and best in Chicago's world of art. The performances at the Strand are filled every evening and at matinee. The Chicago Opera Co.'s subscription lists are entirely filled. Sunday afternoons offer a most varied and plentiful number of concerts by world famed and local artists, choruses and orchestras. Many of them are at popular prices and many are free, and still a number of people say this is no place to go.

The dance and card party to be given at the Auburn Park Masonic Temple by Gresham Lodge 448, I. O. O. F., Dec. 5 should be well patronized by parties desiring that form of entertainment.

Gresham Lodge 448, I. O. O. F., with headquarters in the Auburn Park Masonic Temple, are giving a dance and card party Dec. 5 at the temple. All are welcome. Tickets 50c, including refreshments and wardrobe.

Miss Elsie Deneen spent Sunday in Rockford at Camp Grant. We all know who she went to see.

J. Popkins, secretary of Gresham Lodge 448, I. O. O. F., will be pleased to furnish information regarding the dance and card party to be given at Auburn Park Masonic Temple, Dec. 5. Clubs or parties wishing an evening's entertainment may make suitable arrangements. Address Auburn Park Masonic Temple.

'The Son of His Father'

Five years ago Charles Ray, who will be seen at the Cosmopolitan on Tuesday in "The Son of His Father," a Paramount production, was a member of an unimportant musical comedy in the Far West. Today he is one of the recognized stars of the cinema world.

His newest photodrama gives to this young actor splendid opportunities for effective portrayal of an interesting character. He is seen as the son of a New York railroad magnate, who, with $5,000, sets out to prove to his father that he possesses enough inherent business ability to make a hundred thousand dollars in six months. He makes good, defeating his father in a contest of business wits, and finding happiness in the love of a very charming girl of the West. In fact, he proves in every way that he is the "son of his father."

It is a role very much to Ray's liking, and he brings to it the pleasing personality, the boyish enthusiasm, and the recognized genius for screen acting that have made him a favorite everywhere.

The Holy Name Society of St. Sabina's Church will have a smoker and entertainment Tuesday evening, November 20, 1917, at 8 o'clock.

All the men of the parish are invited and it is hoped by the committee that the parish auditorium will be filled.

A good program has been arranged and a delightful talk to be given by a well-known and eminent judge, Bernard P. Barassa.

Ladies—

Is your hair falling out?
Have you dandruff?
Itchy scalp? Is your hair hard and dry or very oily?

The Misses Neben in the Cosmopolitan Theater Bldg. are giving special treatments with good results. Phone Stewart 5016 for appointment. Prices are reasonable.

Wedded Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Flynn of 7224 Emerald Ave., formerly of 7801 Emerald Ave., Auburn Park, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Monday, Nov. 12, 1917. They are the parents of nine children, grandparents of twenty-one children and great-grandparents of three children.

Winners in the Spelling Contest

In the spelling contest conducted by Frank's Department Store last week over 250 replies were received.

The following were the winners of the five one dollar prizes, together with the order in which they were received:

First Prize—Letter No. 85, Mary Weingart, 7741 Goldsmith Ave.

Second Prize—No. 87, Robert Smith, 7755 Morgan St.

Third Prize—No. 112, Francis Maier, 7739 Peoria St.

Fourth Prize—No. 113, Edward Crowley, 7745 Union Ave.

Fifth Prize—No. 114, Helen Erickson, 8101 Peoria St.

The complete list of misspelled words are: Boys, military, navy, wear, voile, patent, friends, corduroy, corduroy, corduroy, waist, waists, offering, flannel, mackinaws.

Other correct lists received were: No. 115, Carl Erickson, 8101 Peoria St.; No. 117, Gertrude Frank, 815 W. 88th St.; No. 155, Margaret Drews, 8005 Union Ave.; No. 160, Wayne Marshall, 8039 Union Ave.; No. 180, Laura Erickson, 7615 Sangamon St.; No. 214, Richard McNamara, 8006 Union Ave.; No. 255, Irene Gibbs, 733 W. 71st St.

"Bruce has left us." This is the phrase heard on every hand the last two days, and this is the reason:

Mr. Bruce Godshaw, who has managed the Cosmopolitan Theater since its opening, has left there to take a similar position at the Lane Court Theater, Center St. and Lincoln Ave. While Bruce, as he is known to all, was officially the manager at the Cosmopolitan, he not only handled the job thoroughly, but found time to devote to the general welfare of the entire community.

There has never been a matter of public interest come up in Auburn Park during his regime that did not at once enlist the aid and service of Mr. Godshaw. He has been as a mentor in the affairs of the community and his theater and halls the meeting place of, may we say, the forum.

As evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Godshaw is held by those who know him, we recall the incident of several months ago when he announced his intention of making a change. At that time a storm of protest was raised, and Ascher Bros.' office was deluged with petitions and letters asking that he be retained at the Cosmopolitan. The result was that at a sacrifice to both Ascher Bros. and Mr. Godshaw he remained with us.

With this incident in mind and with the necessity for his making a change becoming every day more insistent, he quietly folded his tent and wended his way northward, taking with him Howard Donaldson, his assistant, who has made a capable running mate for Bruce, and while all of us will miss Bruce, we know that the young fair sex will find an unfillable void in Howard's leaving.

No blame can attach to Ascher Bros. for the change, however, as Mr. Godshaw has an interest in the Lane Court that was in jeopardy and needed his master hand to bring it back to safety.

The successor to Mr. Godshaw, Mr. G. M. Laing, is a man of wide experience and keen capabilities as a showman, and was chosen with careful consideration as to his abilities to cater to the movie public of our community.

We feel that on acquaintance with Mr. Laing you will readily appreciate his willingness and ability to carry out the generous policies customery to the Cosmopolitan Theater, and he extends an invitation to you to come in and get acquainted.

The Mathesis club met at Masonic Hall last Wednesday at 2 P. M. They were addressed by Mr. E. N. Comfort.

Private William Deck, orderly to Colonel Barry, spent Sunday with his parents on 73d Street. He was accompanied by the corporal and sergeant of Headquarters Company.

MILITARY BALL FOR SOLDIERS

A movement is afoot to hold a military ball for the benefit of our boys in camp and their dependent ones.

The plan was launched at a meeting of young people held on Nov. 5 at St. Leo's Conservatory of Music. The meeting was well attended and enthusiasm ran high.

Messrs. John McKinley, John Long, Gaynor J. Corley, John J. Sweeney and others addressed the meeting on the subject.

Plans developed so far have named the date as Thanksgiving eve, and the place as St. Leo's Auditorium. The distribution of receipts will be made without regard to race or creed and all can help to make the event a success.

DEPOSITORS MEET

A meeting of depositors of the defunct Auburn State Bank was held last night in Cosmopolitan Hall, presided over by William Cochrane.

A proposal was made to petition the court to suspend the Chicago Title and Trust Co. as receiver and appoint Messrs. Herman Krueger, Thos. McNally and Theodore Affeldt as trustees instead.

It was also proposed to use whatever assets may be left as a nucleus on which to found a cooperative bank, thereby hoping to realize a large percentage of salvage for the depositors.

A benefit performance will be given at the Cosmopolitan Theater on Nov. 21 as one means of raising necessary funds to carry out these plans.

Mrs. W. R. Smith of 726 W. 64th St. and Mrs. R. J. Mahoney of 7139 Morgan St. had the honor of being hostess to Mr. Wilbert Beatty of Camp Grant, Rockford, Saturday evening, Oct. 27th. All spent a very enjoyable evening. Mr. Beatty had to leave for Rockford Sunday evening, Oct. 28th.

Preparation

Success is yours—it's over there,
But first you must yourself prepare
Lest, weakly grasping, it should slip
From out your too uncertain grip.

ISABEL FORNER WEDDON.

For the boys of Chicago and suburbs who may become Sammies next year or that following and for those who because of the war's demands on industry are deprived of parental care and family influence the Chicago Boys' Club today completed plans to campaign for a fund of $150,000 to be obtained at the rate of $50,000 annually.

Where before the outbreak of the war there was one "bad" boy now there are two, according to John H. Witter, general superintendent of the club. "In May, 1916, more than 190 petitions in delinquency were filed against lads in this city," said he. "In May of this year more than 300 were presented. This has been found due to the effects of the war on business and in turn on the homes of the workers. Women have entered factories and shops to take the place of or to work beside men—the home has been left to take care of itself. The boy in the family thus in many instances has been subjected to the worst influences of the city."

The lad of the streets today who may be the soldier of tomorrow is to be conserved, said Mr. Witter. "The ablest statesman of Europe neglected the boy at the outset of the great conflict, he asserted. In England alone delinquency in boys increased in one year more than 34 per cent. This condition became so serious that Sir Edward Troup, under secretary of state, called to it the attention of the government which since has undertaken remedial measures."

Funds to be obtained for the Chicago Boys' Club are to be expended in the extension of its activities. There are now four clubs—No. 1 at 1144 Cambridge Avenue; No. 2 at Orchard and Willow Streets; No. 3 at 3757 Wentworth Avenue and No. 4 at 6357 South Ashland Avenue. A fifth club house is to be erected at 28th street and Ridgeway Avenue with $50,000 given recently by the widow of William Jones, formerly of the International Harvester Company.

More than 1,200 lads in all parts of the city are active members of the Chicago Boys' Club. Almost 3,000 are affected by it indirectly, it is said. Manual and moral training, instruction in the arts and letters and in athleticism are part of the curriculum.

"QUALITY WET WASH"

Washing at Home is Too Expensive

These certainly are times when it is wise and urgent to save every dollar you can. "Quality Wet Wash" means high class economy. Actually saves you at least $2.00 each week, or about $100 a year! We save you hard work and bother.

Besides, we do better work than any laundress or ordinary laundry simply because we make a specialty of "Wet Wash" work.

Lewis J. Selznick Presents

Constance Talmadge

in

SCANDAL

7—ACTS—7

A SUPERB screen presentation of Cosmo Hamilton's great serial of the same name that ran in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. As the Mountain Girl in Griffith's "Intolerance" Constance Talmadge burst upon the world of moving pictures with all the brilliance of a meteor flashing through the sky. Her splendid performance won for her a contract as a Selznick star. In "Scandal" she has the advantage of one of the strongest stories ever brought to the screen. This picture will secure the fame of Constance Talmadge and make fortunes for the exhibitors. "Scandal" is the strongest story that has brought a young star before the public.

A Story of the Worst Spoiled Girl in America

The most readable and delightful romance fiction has supplied in years

CONSTANCE TALMADGE is Norma Talmadge's little sister. Mae Tinee says: "She is one of the most refreshing personalities that has come to the screen for a long time. A lithe, buoyant, clean limbed, graceful girl charmingly glamous as to manner, suggesting boundless vitality, she is sweet, fresh and invigorating, like a cool wind blown over fields of fragrant flowers." "Scandal" is a story of an unconventional girl caught in an indiscreet situation, and who extricates herself thoughtlessly and laughingly by borrowing the gentleman as a husband. It pleases everybody, however, but the girl especially, when the unmarried husband and wife are affectionately left at the supposed bride's bedroom door. Complications thick, fast, thrilling and furious ensue in the following six reels—a yacht, an accident, and big scenes make a sensational climax.

"Arms and the Girl"

HUSBANDS, they say, are scarce in Belgium. On the quiet, we know different. At least, they were plentiful enough when Ruth landed in the heart of the war. Why, if she had wanted to, she could have married the whole German army, but you see Ruth was particular. However, he that as it may, she hadn't the least idea when she landed in that hotel that when she walked out again it would be with a husband she hadn't known the day before. And when she looked at her new husband and at her ex-fiance, guess what she said.

STORY—Ruth and her family are touring Belgium when war is declared. Alighting from the railway carriage to send a telegram to her fiance, she is left behind when the train pulls out. She wires her fiance to come after her. She takes rooms at a little hotel. A woman who is a Russian spy steals her passport, substituting her own. Ruth meets Ferrers, an American. He learns of the Russian's trick and advises her to let him destroy the passport. The Germans take possession of the inn. They are in search of the spy. They detect Wilfred destroying the passport and are about to shoot him when Ruth begs for his life, saying he is her fiance. The general, who has an eye for fair ladies, agrees and has the two of them married. Eugene, Ruth's fiance, shows up on the scene. She informs the general that he is her chauffeur. He is made to sleep in the stable, and—this is all we can tell you.

"The Ghost House"

THIS is tipping. Jack Pickford has never done better work nor have we seen many films that had more real human nature in them. Kiddies and grown-ups alike will enjoy this and you will want to see it twice. Sh—Don't breathe! Ghosts! My, what a terrible thing to have wished on a person—especially if the person is a young lady of scareable age. To think of inheriting a house—with ghosts in it! But then, what could a person do, when a person and a person's family were up against it good and hard? Even a haunted house is something—and then, if you try hard you can make yourself not believe in ghosts. Lois tried hard—awfully hard—but the ghosts just kept hanging around until—well, ghosts is ghosts.

SORE THROATS ARE DANGEROUS

Sore throats of all kinds should be considered as diphtheria until proved that they are not diphtheria.

Most of the contagious diseases are contracted through the breathing tract, that is through the mouth, nose or throat. Many disease germs can and do enter the throat on raw foods, in liquids drank and in some instances in air breathed or swallowed.

When diphtheria is as prevalent in Chicago as it is now, the chances are when you have a sore throat that you have a beginning case of diphtheria. It makes no difference how slight the soreness of the throat is, a doctor should be called at once. Don't go to his office where you may possibly convey the disease to others. Have him come to your home. If the doctor says it is nothing dangerous, ask him to play safe and treat it as diphtheria while he is proving that it is not diphtheria. By following this method you can save your life. You may lose it by neglecting it.

$96,000 Added to Y. M. C. A. Fund for Army Work

Red Triangle Features Great Good Will Campaign

Watch for the sign of the Red Triangle in all parts of Chicago today. For it is to be "everywhere"—on cards in cars, on billboards large and small, with virtually all the space donated to the organization which the Red Triangle symbolizes, the Y. M. C. A. According to those who know, the Red Triangle advertising campaign is the biggest thing in the line of "good will advertising" heard of in Chicago for years.

Meanwhile the money is rolling in. From headquarters in the Association building yesterday came the announcement that additional gifts to the army Y. M. C. A. war fund to the extent of $96,000 had been made, as follows:

Cudahy Packing Co.	$30,000
John G. Shedd	25,000
Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co.	25,000
Elgin National Watch Co.	5,000
E. B. Butler	5,000
Rufus C. Dawes	2,000
Rufus C. Dawes (as president)	1,000
Henry W. Dawes (treasurer)	1,000
Northwestern Yeast Co.	2,000

No New Total

The three Dawes donations are from Rufus C. Dawes personally, and from him and H. W. Dawes as officials of a company in which the Dawes family has a controlling interest. No new total amount was announced by Chairman James B. Forgan, despite the donations. It was explained that these gifts had been included in Mr. Forgan's announcement Friday evening of a total of about $1,500,000.

Clerks are busy checking up donations, and are preparing a report which will be read by Mr. Forgan at the first "Y" noonday rally at Hotel La Salle today. Team captains will assemble at the hotel, lunch together, and gather inspiration for the big canvass which is to comb Chicago and environs for a week beginning today. Over 4,200 workers will take the field in the Chicago district on behalf of the Red Triangle.

Respecting the poster campaign the American Posting Service has donated 100 billboards free of charge to the Y. M. C. A. Card spaces in the cars of the Chicago Surface Lines and the "L" roads also are donated. Similar gifts have been made by the C., B. & Q. Railway, the Illinois Central and the Rock Island lines.

Eight Thousand Posters Out

Something over 8,000 posters, large and small, have been sent out and 10,000 window cards; there are 15,000 cards going into the surface and "L" line cars. The 100 large posters measure nine by twenty-four feet. Some of the slogans on these posters are:

"Help the Trench and Camp Clubs—the War Zone Home for the Boys Over There."

"Give the Boys a Home in Camp."

"Help the Y. M. C. A. to Keep the Home Ties from Breaking."

Chicago is asked to subscribe $3,000,000 this week and the nation $35,000,000.

Newspaper Points Out Washerwoman's Cost

It is no common occurrence for the press to enlarge on the expense of the washerwoman's visit to the home or any other topics that will work to the advantage of the commercial laundry. The New York Tribune, however, does this and points out the burden that this visit imposes on the average family.

With "The High Cost of Keeping Clean" as its theme, it says:

"The $2.60 a day that the newly organized washerwomen of Chicago are asking for their services may seem too tidy a sum for the average family's war budget, as the housewife vainly recalls the good old days when the faithful day's worker came for 75 cents and was grateful to get her midday meal.

"Now, indeed, it's not only the washerwoman's $2.50 and carfare that hurts, but it's the accessories, as it were. There must be coffee for her majesty when she arrives, and luncheon, not a mere "lunch" of leftovers, as of old; and then along at 4 o'clock the guest suddenly becomes so faint that unless tea is supplied the family wash is not likely to emerge from the laundry at all.

"Then, too, in order to be patronized by any self-respecting washerwoman these days, a housekeeper must provide all the latest equipment, electric irons, the newest wrinkle in washboards, the last word in boilers. Soap and the best powders have shot upward in price; starch must be the handpicked variety that comes in boxes and is priced accordingly. These, then, are strenuous and expensive days for the housekeeper who has her washing 'done in,' and she may be inclined to regard the washerwoman's new rate as an added insult to a long list of laundry injuries.

"But it is safe to assume that the days are none too easy with twelve-cent milk, ten-cent bread and double-priced woollens and these do not promise the cheeriest winter imaginable. The new "Wet Wash" laundries seem to be the economical housewife's only salvation. So Chicago's housewives will grin if they can as they pay, but they'll pay."

"Scandal"

By Mae Tinee

Produced by the Lewis J. Selznick Productions Co. Presented at the Cosmopolitan. Cast:

Beatrix Vanderdyke.....Constance Talmadge
Pelham Franklyn...Harry C. Brown

And now we have Constance Talmadge, Norma's little sister, starring all by herself—and making a mighty good job of it, too. She is one of the most refreshing personalities that has come to the screen for a long time, a lithe, buoyant, clean limbed girl, as graceful as Mrs. Castle, charmingly gracious as to manner, suggesting always reserve force and boundless vitality. She's like a fresh, cool wind. The popular Norma will have to look to her laurels.

The picture in question was taken from the story by Cosmo Hamilton and we find Miss Talmadge as the beautiful and unconventional daughter of an old and aristocratic family. She commits the indiscretion of visiting a rather notorious painter in an apartment building. When confronted by her enraged relatives, at bay, she answers thoughtlessly:

"How do you know I went there to see him? There are other people living there. As a matter of fact I had a perfect right to pay midnight visits to the man I had secretly married!"

The man in question appearing on the scene, she throws herself into his arms and on his mercy, dealing out information to him in frantic whispers while her arms are about his neck.

The match which has apparently taken place is one that has been most ardently desired by relatives of both the young people. Blessings are showered upon them. They are finally affectionately left at the supposed bride's bedroom door. You can see there is much opportunity for many complications, and indeed they complicate thick and fast. The man, loving his new incumbrance, begs to be really and truly married. The incumbrance, however, is obdurate.

"Scandal" is a most creditable production. Harry C. Brown as the bridegroom in name only is manly and likable. The supporting cast is a good one.

And—don't forget to keep your eye on little Constance! Thursday at the Cosmopolitan.

"Arms and the Girl"

By Mae Tinee

Ruth Sherwood.....Billie Burke
Wilfred Ferrers.....Thos. Meighan
Olga, the Spy.....Louise Bates
Eugene.....Malcolm Dunn
The General.....George S. Trimble
The Burgomaster.....A. Bower
Martin.....William David

Industriously tapping on wood with one hand while I type with the other, may I say, without changing the run of luck, that we have had quite a run of good pictures lately? I think so. And now along comes "Arms and the Girl" to start the new week right, for it's a nice, smart little comedy-drama, with Billie Burke at her best and Thomas Meighan—well, just Thomas Meighan-ing to beat the band. And that (meighans) something!

The action, which is considerable, takes place in Belgium, where an American girl finds herself stranded, suspected as being a Russian spy—the real spy, a dark and most canny lady, having escaped, after stealing the American's passport, leaving her own in exchange. The town is in the hands of the boches. So is she. So is a young American chap with whose car the dark and canny Russian has emigrated.

The American, through his endeavors to aid his countrywoman in distress is about to be shot as a spy. She, however, having proved to the colonel, a most voluminous, pompous, and susceptible person, to his satisfaction, that she is what she claims to be, next insists that the beleaguered American is her fiance.

"Very well," says the colonel, "marry them!"

They are married. And all the time the girl's real fiance is speeding toward her in his motor to seize and bear her across the frontier. When he arrives— Well, my dears, you will agree it was SOME situation!

How the escape is effected and the real outcome of the strange romance furnishes a most interesting story for those a bit tired of the ordinary run of plots. Miss Burke acts as though she were enjoying herself every minute. But, then, how could she help it?

There are snatches of bright comedy, furnished principally by the fat old invader and his men, with Miss Burke, of course, nimbly assisting. And not for one moment does the picture drag. Technically the excellence of the ensemble is a thing to be commended.

So "Arms and the Girl" is, all things considered, a most auspicious beginning for the week in films.
